Fall 2014
First Assignment

Name	Prof. Robert Talbot
Course	Internet and IP Justice Clinic (IIP)
Required Text/Reading	Go to Chilling Effect website www.chillingeffects.org. Read home page and FAQ's about Chilling Effects and University of San Francisco topics. IIP Trademark Prosecution Manual EVLS PROJECT - FA14 Readings (see below)
1st Assignment	Read/review all materials prior to class on Wednesday, August 27 - Documents are available on TWEN. - For access to Practical Law Company materials go to the website http://us.practicallaw.com and set up a free account using your USF email. - Read documents 1-5 from IIP Trademark Prosecution Manual - IIP is crucial to EVLS and we have many requests from startups for IP help. In the EVLS Readings, read as much as you can to be familiar with legal aspects of startups. Required before the first class is sections #1 'Choosing the Right Entity' and #2 'Selecting a Name'. - Plan a Blog Topic 1. Go to www.internetjustice.org for examples of selected blogs by former students. We are looking for something current and interesting, i.e., a hot topic relating to internet and/or intellectual property law. There are daily articles involving such topics, which can inspire your blog topic. Select something you think is interesting because these topics will potentially be turned into a short class presentation and be published on our webpage. Your topic should be narrow enough to be adequately covered in approximately two paragraphs. 2. Email blog topic for approval to the Clinic lawclinic@usfca.edu before August 22. 3. Once your topic is approved, create a short outline. Bring the outline to class when requested and email it to the Clinic. We will eventually select topics for presentations. More instructions will be provided in class.
Note to Students	Please contact the Clinics office at 415-422-6752 if you have questions.
