TENTATIVE EXPERT ASSIGNMENTS

Prof. Travis

As explained in the syllabus, a portion of your grade will be based on class participation, including acting as an "expert" for one of our substantive class discussions. While everyone is welcome and encouraged to participate in each class, I typically will turn to the designated experts to begin the class discussion and to facilitate our conversation. You will only be deemed an expert with regard to the substantive law portion of the class (not the writing skills discussion).

Below is a tentative list of when each of you will be assigned as an expert. If you are unable to attend class on the day that you are assigned to be an expert, it is your responsibility to switch assignments with someone else in the class. I likely will need to update this list as the enrollment becomes finalized, but I wanted to give most of you as much advance notice of your assigned date as possible.

Class 2—Thursday, Jan. 18:	Mythily Sivarajah Matt Freeman Sam Kang
Class 3—Thursday, Jan. 25:	Eric Wiesner Brooke Sikora
Class 4—Thursday, Feb. 1:	Danielle Tizol Ryan Cardema Kate Solodky Bill Dolan
Class 5—Thursday, Feb. 8:	Ryan McHugh Heather Thurgood Lauren Horowitz Juliana Poindexter
Class 6—Thursday, Feb. 15:	Alex Edmondson Eunice Hahn
Class 7—Thursday, Feb. 22:	Amy Lifson-Leu Ryan Blackhart Janelle Leong