

RESOURCES FOR GETTING STUDENT PAPERS PUBLISHED

I. Publishing in the USF Law Review

<http://www.usfca.edu/lawreview/index.html>

-deadline for paper submissions from 2L students not currently on law review: sometime in July, 2007

II. Publishing in Other Law Reviews

A list of all existing general subject law reviews, with links to each law review's home page, may be found at: <http://stu.findlaw.com/journals/general.html>.

Fourth tier law schools are the most likely to accept student-authored papers.

A list of the fourth tier schools may be found at:

http://www.usnews.com/usnews/edu/grad/rankings/law/brief/lawrank_tier4_brief.php.

A list of law review specialty categories may be found at:

<http://stu.findlaw.com/journals/>. Each category has a link to a list of all of the specialty journals in that category, with corresponding links to each journal's home page. Think very broadly about the categories in which your paper might fit.

III. Student Writing Competitions

A. A full list of competitions on all subjects may be found at: <http://law.lclark.edu/dept/lawac/writing.html>. Think very broadly about the topics for which your paper might fit.

B. Labor and Employment Law Competitions:

1. Louis Jackson National Student Writing Competition in Employment and Labor Law:

<http://www.kentlaw.edu/academics/plel/LouisJacksonNWC.html>

-topics: any labor or employment law issue

-deadline: typically in January each year (so 2Ls can submit their papers in January 2008)

2. The Labor Lawyer Student Writing Competition:

<http://www.abanet.org/labor/proopp.html#laborlawyer>

-topics: any labor or employment law issue

-deadline: August 31st, 2007

3. Employee Benefits Writing Competition:
http://lawprofessors.typepad.com/laborprof_blog/files/CompetitionAnnounce113004.doc
-topics: any issue related to employee benefits
-deadline: May 1, 2007
4. Adam A. Milani Disability Law Writing Competition:
http://www.law.mercer.edu/academics/legal_writing/writingcomp.cfm
-topics: any aspect of disability law, theory, or practice
-deadline: June 1, 2007
5. Labor and Employment Law Section of the State Bar of California Competition for Outstanding Student Papers in the Area of Labor and Employment:
Information is not yet out for the 2007 competition, but you can check the website for updates:
http://www.calbar.ca.gov/state/calbar/calbar_generic.jsp?cid=10709&id=7323
-topics: often the Bar gives a list of topics that students must write about, so this may not be as useful to you
-deadline: last year's deadline was in June, so next year's deadline is likely to be similar
