

New and Adjunct Faculty 2006-2007

Tsan Abrahamson, Adjunct Professor, received her A.B. (1985) from Dartmouth College, and her J.D. and MBA (1996) from UCLA. She spent 6 years at the law firm of Cooley Godward where she specialized in trademark prosecution and litigation, copyright and advertising litigation, and promotions law. She is currently intellectual property counsel for LeapFrog Enterprises, Inc., an educational toy company in Emeryville. Ms. Abrahamson is on the faculty of ALI-ABA, and has lectured on trademark litigation, contest and sweepstakes law, and Internet domain name issues. Ms. Abrahamson teaches Transactional Trademark Practice.

Robert S. Arns, Adjunct Professor, received his B.S. (1971) from the University of California, Santa Barbara, Summa Cum Laude, and his J.D. (1975) from the University of San Francisco Cum Laude, Managing Editor of the Law Review. Mr. Arns has practiced trial and appellate law in San Francisco since 1975 specializing in representing families where one has suffered serious injury or death arising out of product failures, Federal Employers Liability Act actions, Jones Act actions, construction site incidents, mass torts, medical negligence and other tortious conduct. Mr. Arns has obtained many of the highest jury verdicts in counties throughout California. In 1997 Mr. Arns founded The Arns Law Firm with its principal offices in San Francisco. Nominated Trial Lawyer of the Year by San Francisco Trial Lawyers 2000 and 2003, Nominated Trial Lawyer of the Year Consumer Attorneys of California 2002. Member, American Board of Trial Advocates; Consumer Attorneys of California, Executive Committee, Board of Governors; San Francisco Trial Lawyers, Board of Directors; American Trial Lawyers Association. Mr. Arns team-teaches Trial Practice.

Raymond C. Avansino, Jr., Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. (1969) from the University of San Francisco, where he served on the Moot Court Board, and his LL.M. (1970) in Taxation from New York University. He has been in private practice in Nevada and is of counsel to the Nevada firm of Avansino, Melarkey, Knobel & McMullen, which specializes in tax law and gaming law. He served as a member of the Nevada Gaming Commission which regulates casino gaming, and as President and Chief Operating Officer of Hilton Hotels Corporation, a global hotel and casino company. He served as Vice Chairman of the Nevada Commission on Ethics and he currently serves as a member of the Nevada Athletic Commission which regulates the sport of boxing in Nevada. Mr. Avansino teaches Family Wealth Transfer Taxation.

Justin H. Bass, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. (1994 with honors) from UCLA, and his J.D. (1997) from the University of California, Hastings College of Law. He is the Vice President of Legal Affairs for CSI Capital Management, which is a financial advisory firm that oversees the business, legal, and financial affairs for professional athletes and high net-worth individuals. Prior to joining CSI, he worked in the sports management industry. Mr. Bass teaches Sports Law.

William Bernstein, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. (1972 General Honors) from the University of Pennsylvania, and his J.D. (1975 Law Review), from the University of San Francisco. Mr. Bernstein has practiced law for 29 years and is one of the leading class action attorneys in the United States. He is currently a partner in the San Francisco office of Lieff, Cabraser, Heimann & Bernstein where he specializes in antitrust law and the settlement of complex litigation. Mr. Bernstein has served as a discovery referee and an arbitrator for the Marin Superior Court and as a judge pro tem for the San Francisco Superior Court. Mr. Bernstein teaches the Law of Settlements.

Robert L. Bianco, Visiting Professor, Received his B.S. (1958) and J.D. (1961) from the University of San Francisco, and attended the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's School (1962). He has over 40 years experience as a successful trial lawyer, emphasizing personal injury, professional negligence, and employment litigation. In recent years his practice has broadened to include mediation and arbitration of substantial matters. Mr. Bianco is a member of the American Judicature Society, the San Francisco Trial Lawyers Association, the Association of Trial Lawyers of America, Consumer Lawyers of California, is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation, and has been Past President of the USF Board of Governors, and Past President of the San Francisco Law School Assembly. He has also taught at the University of Utah and Hasting College of the Law, and taught numerous courses for California Continuing Education for the Bar. Mr. Bianco teaches Discovery, Legal Ethics and the Practice of Law, and Trial Practice.

Thomas J. Brandi, Adjunct Professor, is a San Francisco native who graduated from San Jose State and received his J.D. from the University of San Francisco School of Law. He has tried cases to verdict in 15 jurisdictions and has obtained numerous significant jury verdicts ranging from one to fifteen million dollars. He is a member of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers, the American College of Trial Lawyers and the American Board of Trial Advocates and was selected in the Best Lawyers in America. A lawyer for over 25 years, Tom began his career with the State of California before practicing with the firms of Abramson & Bianco, Bianco, Brandi & Jones and then starting his own firm in 1993. He is a current Director of the San Francisco Bar Association, Past President of the Consumer Attorneys of California (2000), Past-President of the San Francisco Trial Lawyers, (1998), a member of ATLA, CAOC, the Italian American Bar Association, and Trial Lawyers for Public Justice. Mr. Brandi team-teaches Trial Practice.

Patricia Brazil, Visiting Professor, is a Lecturer in Law at Trinity College Dublin. She graduated in 2001, qualified as a barrister in 2003, and was conferred with an M.LITT on the Drug Court and sentencing policy in Ireland in 2005. A full-time researcher with the Law Reform Commission for a number of years, Patricia has carried out extensive teaching and lecturing at Trinity College prior to her full-time appointment to the Law School in 2005. She teaches European Union Law – Structure and Institutions.

Henry Brown, Director of the Trial Advocacy Program, received his J.D. (1989) from the University of San Francisco School of Law. Professor Brown clerked for Judge Barbara A. Caulfield (ret.) of the Northern District of California, and then practiced with the law firm of Orrick, Herrington, & Sutcliffe where he specialized in intellectual property and employment litigation. He has taught Advanced Evidence at University of San Francisco and Trial Advocacy at Stanford and Boalt law schools, in the University of San Francisco's Intensive Advocacy Program, and has also taught in several programs offered by the National Institute of Trial Advocacy (NITA). Mr. Brown teaches Constitutional Law, Evidence, and Forensic Evidence.

Brian Budds, Adjunct Professor, received his BA in English (1972) from Fordham University in New York, BS in Nursing (1987, cum laude) from Oregon Health Sciences University, an MS in Nursing (1994, cum laude) from University of California San Francisco, and his JD (2004, magna cum laude) from University of San Francisco. A practicing attorney, he is also an Adult Nurse Practitioner. His clinical background includes extensive work in HIV care, including primary care and clinical research in drug development. He has taught advanced practice nursing and consulted in the electronic medical record industry. His work as an attorney has been focused in healthcare compliance and physician peer review. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the AIDS Legal Referral Panel. Mr. Budds teaches Health Law.

Edward M. Bull III, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. with honors from the University of California at Berkeley in 1985 and his J.D., cum laude, from the University of San Francisco School of Law in 1989. He is a named partner with the law firm of Banning Micklow Bull & Lopez where he specializes in maritime, insurance, commercial, catastrophic injury and wrongful death litigation. Mr. Bull was the founding Editor in Chief of the USF Maritime Law Journal, is the current Chair of Pacific Admiralty Seminar Steering Committee, serves on the Executive Committee of the USF Maritime Law Journal Board of Advisors and was the prior Chair of the Maritime Law Committee of the San Francisco Barristers Club. Mr. Bull team-teaches Maritime Law.

Donald C. Carroll, Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. (1963) from the University of San Francisco, and his LL.M. (1964) from Georgetown University. He is engaged in the private practice of labor, employment and ERISA law. Mr. Carroll teaches Labor Law.

Keith Chang, Adjunct Professor, received his Master of Laws in Taxation (LLM) from New York University (1985). He is a former Tax Manager with the international tax group at Deloitte & Touche, San Francisco, and at several multinational Bay Area companies where he was responsible for outbound tax planning. At Bechtel Corporation, for example, he had overall tax planning duties for projects and operations in Canada and all of the Central and South Americas. He has been teaching since 1995 and is currently engaged in private practice. Mr. Chang teaches International Taxation.

Joan M. Chipser, Adjunct Professor, received her B.A. (1974) from the University of California, San Diego where she graduated with High Honors. She received her J.D. (1978) from UC Hastings College of the Law, where she was Articles Editor of the Hastings Law Journal. Ms. Chipser has practiced bankruptcy and insolvency law for more than 20 years. She began her career with the law firm of Pillsbury, Madison & Sutro (Now Pillsbury Winthrop LLP) where she was mentored by seasoned bankruptcy professionals. She has been in private practice in the Bay Area since 1986 focusing on bankruptcy and insolvency law. Ms. Chipser teaches Secured Transactions

Judith Cohen, Adjunct Professor, received her J.D. from Emory University School of Law (1984), where she was a member of the national award winning International Moot Court Team. She is a founding partner of Stein, Smith Rudser, & Cohen, LLP and her practice emphasizes real estate and business transactions, which includes commercial real estate and business acquisition and disposition, financing, investigation and resolution of title issues, commercial lease creation and review, dispute resolution in the leasing and acquisition/disposition process, and conservation work. Her clients include developers, brokers, architects, property acquisition and management entities, commercial landlords and tenants, and conservation organizations, and she is an outside council for The Trust for Public Land. Ms. Cohen also serves as a co-mediator at JAMS, which mediates a wide variety of real estate, business, and other conflicts. She is also a member of the Early Settlement Panel of the Bar Association of San Francisco where she conducts settlement conferences in real estate and business disputes. Ms. Cohen teaches Real Estate (Sales) Transactions.

Phylliss Craig-Taylor, Visiting Professor, received her B.S in Business from the University of Alabama in 1980 and her J.D. from the University of Alabama in 1985. She was awarded an LL.M. from Columbia University in 1994 and she is currently a candidate for a J.S.D. from Columbia. Professor Craig-Taylor was a partner in England & Bivens, Attorneys at Law. She served as a judicial clerk to the Alabama Supreme Court. She has held teaching positions at the following institutions: University of Tennessee (1991-1993); teaching fellow Columbia University 1993-1994; Assistant Professor at the University of Florida 1995-1998; Associate Professor at the University of Florida 1998-2000. She is currently a full Professor at North Carolina Central University School of Law. Her area of research and publication is in Land Loss in the African American Community and discrimination and disparity in the design and application of laws for minority groups. She has published several articles in this area, and is currently working on a book on land loss. At NCCU she serves as advisor for the first year class and for the Black Law Students Association. She serves in the Leadership of the Litigation Section of the American Bar Association. She also works as a coordinator with the ABA Commission on Domestic Violence to host conferences for Integrating Issues of Domestic Violence into Law School Curriculums. She is a member of the N.C. Bar Association and the Alabama Bar Association. She serves on the executive board for Planned Parenthood of North Carolina. Professor Craig-Taylor teaches Law and the Politics of Difference, Real Estate Finance (Secured Transactions), and Professional Responsibility.

Eugene Crew, Adjunct Professor, is a partner in the intellectual property and antitrust law firm of Townsend, Townsend and Crew. He received his BA degree in Economics cum laude from the University of Portland and received his JD cum laude from the University of San Francisco. Mr. Crew has litigated antitrust cases in federal and state courts and before the Supreme Court, for over 35 years. He has also taught antitrust law at the University of California-Hastings College of Law for the past seven years and has frequently published articles on various antitrust issues, and is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers. Mr. Crew team teaches Antitrust and Intellectual Property Law.

Michael E. Dergosits, Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. (1984) cum laude from University of San Francisco. Prior to law school he was a research and development engineer. He is a partner with the intellectual property firm of Dergosits & Noah, where his practice focuses on chemical and diagnostics patents and litigation related to patents, copyrights and trademarks. Mr. Dergosits teaches Patent Law.

Dana Zartner Falstrom, Adjunct Professor, received her J.D. (1996), concentration in International Law, and M.A. (1996) in International Relations from Boston University, and her LL.M. (2000) in International Legal Studies from Golden Gate University School of Law. An immigration practitioner for five years, Professor Falstrom focused on business immigration, visas for foreign students and scholars, and political asylum cases. Since 2001, Professor Falstrom has been working full-time in academia, both as a student pursuing her Ph.D. in International Relations at the University of California, Davis, and as a Professor of Law. Professor Falstrom has taught Immigration Law and Jurisprudence at Golden Gate University School of Law, and also served as an advisor to GGU's Jessup International Moot Court team. Ms. Falstrom teaches Comparative Law and European Union Law.

Patricia A. Fitzsimmons, Adjunct Professor, received her B.S. in Speech Pathology from Marquette University (1972), her M.A. in Learning Disabilities from Northern Illinois University (1975), and her J.D. from the New College School of Law (1986). She is currently an attorney in the Administrative Office of the Courts, Center for Children, Families and the Courts where she facilitates state wide training for attorneys on dependency matters. Ms. Fitzsimmons has also served as a trial attorney for the Bar Association of San Francisco Juvenile Dependency Panel representing minors and parents in trials and other contested dependency matters. She is a member of the San Francisco Child Abuse prevention council and the Northern California National Association of Counsel for Children. Ms. Fitzsimmons supervises the Child Advocacy Clinic.

Donna Wickham Furth, Adjunct Professor, received her B.A. and M.A. from the University of Michigan and her J.D. from the University of San Francisco School of Law (1978), where she ranked first in her class. After her graduation from U.S.F., Ms. Furth clerked at the California Supreme Court for Chief Justice Rose Elizabeth Bird, was employed by the Law Offices of Adolph Koven, worked as a staff attorney at Legal Services for Children and Children's Law Offices, and taught as an adjunct professor at Golden Gate University School of Law. Currently, she has a private appellate practice, does extensive amicus work on behalf of the National Association of Counsel for Children (NACC) and the Northern California Association of Counsel for Children (NCACC), serves as a member of the Boards of Directors and Amicus Committees of both NACC and NCACC, and is a member of the NACC Juvenile Attorney Certification National Advisory Board. Ms. Furth teaches Juvenile Law.

Stanley L. Gibson, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. (1967) from Stanford University, and his J.D. (1970) from UC Berkeley. Mr. Gibson has practiced law for 30 years and is one of the leading maritime attorneys on the West Coast. He is currently a partner in the San Francisco firm of Derby, Cook, Quinby, & Tweed, where he specializes in maritime casualty and insurance litigation, focusing on subrogation, tug and tow matters, and complex marine insurance issues. Mr. Gibson regularly teaches an accredited course on Cargo Subrogation sponsored by the Board of Maritime Underwriters of San Francisco. He is on the Board of Advisors to the University of San Francisco Maritime Law Journal and is Chairman of the Education Committee of the Association of Maritime Underwriters of San Francisco. Mr. Gibson team-teaches Maritime Law.

Robert C. Goodman, Adjunct Professor, received his A.B. (1978) magna cum laude from Brown University and his J.D. (1983) from the University of Chicago. He served as a Trial Attorney in the Environmental Enforcement Section of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., where he represented the Environmental Protection Agency in enforcement actions under all major federal environmental statutes. Since 1992 he has been in private practice in San Francisco. He has served as co-chair of the Environmental Law Section of the Bar Association of San Francisco and as a member of the Executive Committee of the Environmental Law Section of the State Bar of California. Mr. Goodman teaches California Environmental Law.

David Greene, Adjunct Professor, received his B.S. (1987) from Lehigh University, and his J.D. (1991) from Duke University. He is currently Executive Director of the First Amendment Project, a nonprofit organization providing legal and educational resources on issues relating to free speech, press, petition, and freedom of information. Mr. Greene has significant experience litigating First Amendment issues in state and federal courts and is one of the country's leading advocates for and commentators on freedom of expression in the arts. Mr. Greene serves on the steering committee of the Free Expression Network, and the advisory board to the Free Expression Policy Project. Mr. Greene teaches First Amendment: Free Speech, Press, and Petition

D. Peter Harvey, Adjunct Professor, graduated from Cornell University and Yale Law School, and has practiced law in San Francisco since 1972. He is a partner with Harvey, Siskind, Jacobs LLP, and his practice emphasizes trademark, copyright, and unfair competition litigation in U.S. Federal Courts. Among his clients are companies in the entertainment, publishing, computer, and communications industries, including high-technology businesses headquartered in Northern California. Mr. Harvey's articles and papers include "Applying United States Intellectual Property Laws Abroad: Trademarks, Copyrights, and Extraterritoriality" in Entertainment and Sports Lawyer, "Efforts Under GATT, WIPO, and Other Multinational Organizations Against Trademark Counterfeiting" in the European Intellectual Property Review; and "A Music Law and Business Primer for Trademark Lawyers" in 5 USF Intellectual Property Law Bulletin 10 (Spring, 2000). Mr. Harvey teaches Entertainment and Media Law.

Richard J. Heafey, Adjunct Professor, received his LL.B. (1961) from University of Michigan. He is co-chairman of the ABA subcommittee on Attorney-Client Privilege and Work Product, and is a member of the advisory board of the Center for Applied Ethics at Santa Clara University. He has lectured for California Continuing Education of the Bar and for the Defense Research Institute. Mr. Heafey has written numerous articles and is the co-author of Product Liability: Winning Strategies and Tactics (Law Journal Seminars Press 2000). He is of counsel at Reed Smith LLP (www.reedsmith.com) where he engages in product liability litigation. Mr. Heafey teaches Legal Ethics & the Practice of Law.

Shirley Hochhausen, Adjunct Professor, has been a public interest attorney for more than twenty-five years. She is presently the Director of Affordable Housing at Episcopal Homes Foundation. She is active in the regional and statewide effort to fight predatory home mortgage lending. Ms. Hochhausen is co-counsel in several predatory lending cases, among them a class action, Knox v. Ameriquest (N.D. Cal., No. C-05-00240 –SC. Ms. Hochhausen was educated at Fordham University, Brooklyn Law School and University College, London. She began her career as a legal services attorney in New York City, and has served as an Assistant Attorney General for the State of New York, a Special Assistant U.S. Attorney and Counsel to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. She taught at Stanford Law School from 2000-2002, and served as the Managing Attorney of the Community Economic Development Clinic at the East Palo Alto Community Law Project. Ms. Hochhausen teaches Predatory Lending Law and Practice.

Susan Hollander, Adjunct Professor, received her B.A. from Pitzer College (1979), and her J.D. from the University of California Berkeley, Boalt Hall School of Law, (1987). She is a partner at Manatt, Phelps & Phillips, LLP. Ms. Hollander's practice focuses on all aspects of intellectual property, including complex litigation in trademark and copyright infringement, unfair competition, and false advertising cases. She has had extensive experience practicing before the Patent and Trademark Office and the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board as well as district and appellate courts throughout the country. Her publications include "Keys to Protecting Thoughts and Ideas," IP Litigation Best Practices: Leading Lawyers on Protecting and Defending Your Company's Intellectual Property. (Chapter Author), "Design Patents Revisited: Icons as Statutory Subject Matter," Computer Lawyer, Vol. 9, No. 6, June 1992 (Co-Author), and "Embarking on a New Era of Trademark and Unfair Competition Law," San Francisco Attorney, January 1990. Ms. Hollander teaches Copyright Law.

Richard J. Ingram, Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. (1978) from Hastings College of the Law. He has specialized in trial and appellate criminal defense work and now is in private practice in Sonoma County, where he has been president of the County Bar Association. He is a member of the editorial board of Forecite. Mr. Ingram teaches Criminal Procedure and Advanced Criminal Procedure.

Aaron Isherwood, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. from the University of Chicago and his J.D. (1994, order of the coif) from the University of Oregon. Mr. Isherwood began his career as the law clerk for Oregon Supreme Court Justice Robert Durham. He is now a Senior Staff Attorney for the Sierra Club where he has practiced law since 1999. Prior to working for the Sierra Club, he worked with the San Francisco-based law firm Shute, Mihaly & Weinberger LLP. Mr. Isherwood teaches Public Natural Resources and Land Law.

Thomas Klitgaard, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. (1956), summa cum laude, from the University of San Francisco, and his LL.B. from the university of California at Berkeley (Boalt Hall), where he was editor-in-chief of the California Law Review, and graduated first in his class. He began his career as the law clerk for Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. He is now a partner of the firm of Dillingham & Murphy, LLP, San Francisco. Professor Klitgaard has handled business transactions and litigation in Asia for the past twenty-five years and has lectured and published on dispute resolution in the Pacific Rim. Mr. Klitgaard is a founding director of the San Francisco-Shanghai Friendship City Committee and is conversationally fluent in Mandarin Chinese. Mr. Klitgaard teaches Asian Legal Systems.

Carol Langford, Adjunct Professor, received her J.D. (1986) from the University of San Francisco School of Law, where she was a member of the McAuliffe Honor Society. In her current practice, Ms. Langford specializes in giving advice on legal ethics and discipline to attorneys, judges, law firms and corporations. She also serves as a national expert witness in the ethics area. Ms. Langford has lectured and presented programs on legal ethics for the State Bar of California, and has served as chair of following State Bar committees or sections: the Law Practice Management and Technology Committee, the Committee on Professional Responsibility and Conduct, and the Council of Section Chairs. She was formerly an attorney with Carroll, Burdick and McDonough, where she was the ethics advisor to the firm and was a member of the New Business Committee. She is co-author of the textbooks, Legal Ethics in the Practice of Law, 2nd ed. (Lexis Law Publishing, 2002) and The Moral Compass of the American Lawyer, Truth, Justice, Power, and Greed (Ballantine, 1999). Ms. Langford teaches Legal Ethics & the Practice of Law.

Richard Leo, Associate Professor, received his A.B. (1985) from UC Berkeley, his M.A. from the University of Chicago (1989) and his J.D. (1994) and Ph.D. (1994) from U.C. Berkeley. He taught at the University of Colorado, Boulder (Sociology and Law) and the University of California, Irvine (Criminology and Psychology) before joining the USF Law Faculty. He has written numerous articles on police interrogation, Miranda v. Arizona, false confessions and wrongful convictions. He is the author of Police Interrogation and the American Process of Justice (Forthcoming, 2007) and co-author (with George C. Thomas III) of The Miranda Debate: Law, Justice and Policing (1998). Since 1996, he has served as a consultant on hundreds of criminal and civil cases, and he has testified as an expert witness numerous times in state, federal and military courts in many different states. He regularly lectures to criminal defense attorneys, judges, prosecutors, forensic psychologists and other criminal justice professionals. He teaches Criminal Law, Criminal Procedure, and Wrongful Convictions.

Lester J. Levy, Adjunct Professor, received a Bachelor of Music (1981) from the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, and a J.D. (1985) from Benjamin N. Cordozo School of Law. He clerked for Judge Irving R. Kaufman of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit and then practiced with Munger, Tolles & Olson in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and is currently a mediator and arbitrator for JAMS. Mr. Levy teaches Mediation.

Gary Loeb, Adjunct Professor, received his B.S and B.A. (1991) from Stanford university and his J.D. (1994) from Columbia Law School. He clerked in the Northern District of Texas after law school and interned in the Summer Honors program at the United States Department of Justice. After practicing general intellectual property law in Los Angeles and San Francisco, he joined Genentech in 2000 to focus primarily on biotechnology issues. Currently he serves as Director of Litigation and Section Patent Counsel at Genentech. He also serves on the Board of Directors of the McCullum Youth Court. Mr. Loeb teaches Biotechnology Law.

Michael E. London, Adjunct Professor, received a B.Sce. from Santa Clara University (1974), a M.Sce. from Stanford University (1975) and a J.D. from Santa Clara University (1981). He has also been trained by the Strauss Institute of Pepperdine University Law School in the area of mediated conflict resolution. Mr. London's practice involves advising clients on a wide variety of business matters with an emphasis on conflict resolution related to business disputes involving the construction, real property and environmental issues. He has represented owners, contractors, subcontractors, and public entities in connection with complex construction matters. Mr. London also has extensive experience with land use regulation and the governmental administrative process associated with development, and has handled matters which involve significant environmental review of toxic waste damage and potential Super Fund liability. He has authored the periodic Continuing Education of the Bar publication entitled "Landslide and Subsidence Liability Supplement." He has participated in the Associated General Contractors Legal Advisory Committee and the Western Council of Construction Consumers, and is also on the panel of arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association, and is a Consulting Associate Professor, Department of Civil Engineering, at Stanford University. Mr. London teaches Legal Ethics and the Practice of Law

Luo Peixin, Visiting Professor, received his JSD from Peking University, where he served as comment editor of the Peking Law Review before obtaining a doctorate in International Financial Law from the Law School of Peking University. During the period of JSD study, he visited the University College of Oxford University. After completing a two-year post doctoral research in Chinese Academy of Social Science, he worked as a senior research fellow for Haitong Securities Stock Company in Shanghai, China. Currently, he is a Law Professor in Commercial Law of East China University of Politics and Law, and subeditor of Legal Science. He also serves as a Senior Consultant to XinHua Agency, the leading think tank of Chinese government. Professor Luo has published nine books, including the Contractual Perspective on Corporate Law (Peking University Press, 2004), and has translated the following books: The Economic Structure of Corporate Law (Original Version by Harvard University Press, 1991, translated version published by Peking University Press, 2005), The Disputes Settlements in the World Trade Organization: Practice and Procedure ( Original Version by Cambridge University Press, 2004, translated version published by Peking University Press, 2005 ) and Corporate Governance in a Changing Economic and Political Environment: Trajectories of Institutional Change (Original version by Palgrave Macmillan, 2004, translated version published by Peking University Press, 2006). Additionally, he has published over a hundred papers concerning the company law and securities regulation in China in recent years. Professor Luo teaches Corporate Law & Securities Regulation in China.

John E. Lynch, Adjunct Professor, received his B.S. (1960) from Fordham University, and his J.D. (1963) from Georgetown Law Center. Mr. Lynch has practiced intellectual property law, including patent procurement, patent licensing, and patent and trademark litigation, for more than 35 years. He has been in private practice since 1970 and was a founding partner of the New York City law firm of Felfe & Lynch which represented a broad spectrum of clients in all aspects of intellectual property law. In 1998 the firm merged with Fulbright & Jaworski L.L.P., where Mr. Lynch is a partner in the Intellectual property and Technology Practice Group. Mr. Lynch has been an adjunct professor of law at Georgetown since 1997. Professor Lynch teaches Patent Licensing.

Iain A. Macdonald, Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. (1971) from the University of San Francisco. He has been in private practice in San Francisco since then specializing in bankruptcy law. He taught the Bankruptcy class at USF from 1984 to 1994. He has written and published extensively for the Continuing Education of the Bar and is the author of the bankruptcy chapter of the recent edition CEB's, Debt Collection Practice in California. Mr. Macdonald teaches Bankruptcy.

Jesse W. Markham, Jr., Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. (1979) from Vanderbilt University after completing studies there and at University of California at Berkeley. He is currently a partner at Morrison & Foerster, and formerly with Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe. He has also served as Chair of the Antitrust & Trade Regulation Law Section of the California State Bar. He previously practiced with McCutchen, Doyle, Brown & Enersen, and with the Paris office of Rogers & Wells before becoming Assistant Attorney General for Massachusetts and a Deputy Attorney General for California. He was the principal author of the Antitrust Guidelines for the Insurance Industry of the California Department of Justice, and an author of California Antitrust Law and California Antitrust Law, Second. He has lectured at University of California at Berkeley, and is a frequent speaker on antitrust issues at bar forums around the country. Mr. Markham teaches Antitrust Law.

Brian Mikulak, Assistant Professor of Legal Writing, received his B.A. from Wesleyan University and his J.D., from the University of San Francisco School of Law (1988). He was associated with the law firm of Kazan, McClain, Edises & Simon and is the author of "Classism and Equal Opportunity: A Proposal for Affirmative Action in Education on the Basis of Social Class" (1990). Mr. Mikulak teaches Legal Drafting

Thomas J. Moses, Adjunct Professor, is currently a Senior Counsel with the San Francisco firm of Brydon, Hugo & Parker, whose current practice focuses primarily on the defense of asbestos cases, as well as casualty cases (automobile, premises liability and commercial claims), and insurance bad faith and insurance coverage litigation. Prior to joining Brydon Hugo & Parker, Mr. Moses was Claims Coverage Counsel with XL Insurance America, Inc., an international property-casualty carrier, and was also in the General Counsel's office of TIG Insurance Company, a major commercial/personal lines insurer based in Texas, where he managed significant extra-contractual/bad faith litigation against the carrier. Mr. Moses received his Juris Doctorate degree from McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento, California in 1984, where he was an associate editor of, and published an article in, the Pacific Law Review, and graduated Order of the Coif. He was also recently an Adjunct Professor at Texas Wesleyan University School of Law in Fort Worth, Texas. Mr. Moses teaches Insurance Law.

Gary Nadler, Adjunct Professor, graduated from the State University of New York at Buffalo (1976) magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa; he received his J.D (1979) from USF. He has practiced in San Francisco with Alioto & Alioto before becoming a partner with Hirschfield & Nadler in Petaluma. Mr. Nadler is presently a partner with Williams, Wester, Hall & Nadler LLP in Petaluma. He has been a civil litigator since 1979, specializing in personal injury, environmental law, business litigation, and employment and discrimination law. He is co-author of California Civil Discovery Handbook and has written Action Guides for the Continuing Education of the Bar. He team teaches Discovery Practice.

Mark K. Neville, Jr., Adjunct Professor, is the Principal of International Trade Counsellors, a specialty law and consulting firm based in Lafayette, California, USA. He has thirty-one years experience in the field of international trade and customs affairs. He has successfully advised numerous United States and foreign-based companies on strategic matters of planning, compliance and enhanced efficiencies. Starting as a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice representing the Customs Service and the Treasury Department, his career has taken him to a Wall Street law firm (Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander), Fortune 100 legal department and the international accounting firm KPMG, where he founded and ran the trade and customs consulting practice for five years. He also counts a two year assignment in Brussels with responsibilities for Europe, Africa and the Middle East in his professional background. Mr. Neville holds law degrees from the University of San Francisco (1975) and NYU (LL.M, International Legal Studies), and history degrees from Fordham University and UCLA. He is also a licensed customhouse broker. Mr. Neville also serves as an adjunct faculty member of the Walter A. Haas School of Business of the University of California. He is a member of the Board of Advisors of the Journal of International Taxation and is widely published. While a recognized expert in all areas of trade and customs, he reserves his own personal preference for customs valuation and the interplay of customs and international tax issues. Mr. Neville teaches International Trade: Statutes and Strategies.

Thomas Mandel Onda, Adjunct Professor, received his B.A. (1986) from Northwestern University and his J.D. (1990) cum laude from the University of San Francisco. Mr. Onda is Intellectual Property Counsel at Levi Strauss & Co. in San Francisco. A former student of Professor J. Thomas McCarthy, Mr. Onda teaches Intellectual Property Survey.

Joseph A. Piasta II, Adjunct Professor, graduated from the University of San Francisco as a member of the McAuliffe Honor Society with a J.D. (1976). He received his L.L.M. (1981) summa cum laude from the George Washington University National Law Center. He has been a trial lawyer since 1977, first in the Army Judge Advocate General's Corps, then as an attorney in several Santa Rosa civil litigation firms, culminating with his present partnership in Shapiro, Galvin, Shapiro, Piasta, & Moran. He specializes in civil litigation and trial practice and emphasizes elder abuse, real estate, business employment, and personal injury litigation. He is a co-author of California Civil Discovery Handbook, and is an instructor for various bar association and lay groups on combating elder financial abuse. Professor Piasta team teaches Discovery Practice.

Kevin K. Rooney, Adjunct Professor, is a partner of the law firm Hayden Bergman Rooney, Professional Corporation. Mr. Rooney received his LL.B. from Dalhousie Law School, and his Honors B.A.Sc. (First Class Honors) in Mechanical Engineering with a Management Science Option from the University of Waterloo. In addition, Mr. Rooney has formal training in securities and negotiations. Before joining Hayden Bergman, Professional Corporation in 2005, he practiced law at two leading transactional firms, Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati in Palo Alto, California, and Davies Ward Phillips & Vineberg LLP in Toronto, Canada. Throughout his legal career, Mr. Rooney's practice has focused on a wide variety of corporate, securities and related matters, in particular, mergers and acquisitions and private equity transactions. Mr. Rooney has been a guest participant at classes at HAAS Business School and Stanford Graduate School of Business. He is a member of the California State Bar and the Ontario Bar. Mr. Rooney teaches Corporate Transactions.

Sandra Shapiro, Adjunct Professor, received her J.D. (1959) from the University of California at Berkeley. She clerked for the Honorable Raymond Peters of the California Supreme Court and was a partner with Bancroft, Avery and McAllister, where she headed a senior litigation group specializing in business and related litigation. She is currently a sole practitioner specializing in business litigation. She has served as a faculty member for the San Francisco Bar Association Trial Practice Clinic and the Hastings Advocacy Center; advisor for Moot Courts at Boalt Hall School of Law, Hastings College of the Law, and Golden Gate University Law School; and a litigation lecturer for Continuing Education of the Bar. She authored the 1985 and 1986 Supplements to CEB Civil Procedure During Trial. Ms. Shapiro teaches Trial Practice.

Ruth Silver Taube, Adjunct Professor, graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Michigan with a B.A., with high distinction; received her M.A. from UC Berkeley, and her J.D., summa cum laude from Santa Clara University. Upon graduating from law school she clerked for Judge Ronald M. Whyte of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California in San Jose. She is a partner in the law firm of Silver & Taube specializing in ERISA and in mediation of employment disputes. She is a mediator on the panels of the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing, and the United States Department of Justice (Civil Rights Division, Americans with Disabilities Acts). Ms. Silver Taube co-teaches Mediation Clinic II.

Carl C. Straub Jr., Adjunct Professor, received his B.A.(1973) From the University of Notre Dame and his J.D. (1976) from Gonzaga University School of Law. Mr. Straub has over 20 years experience as a General Counsel focusing on a broad spectrum of international commerce and trade. Mr. Straub as conducted transactions, litigations and trade in numerous international jurisdictions Mr. Straub is the chairperson for the litigation and risk section of the SFBA chapter of the Association of Corporate Counsel and was previously licensed CPA. Professor Straub teaches International Economic Relations.

John Thorson, Adjunct Professor, received his JD from UC Berkeley, where he served as note and comment editor of the California Law Review, before obtaining a doctorate in public administration from the University of Southern California. Professor Thorson is currently an Administrative Law Judge with the California Public Utilities Commission in San Francisco where he hears water, energy, and telecommunications cases. For a decade, Thorson was Special Master for Arizona's general stream adjudications. He has served as consultant to several state legislatures, courts and agencies, including the California Superior Courts. Thorson is also a founder and one of the judicial convenors of Dividing the Waters, a project sponsoring conferences and educational programs for judges, masters, and referees involved in water adjudications and complex water litigation. He has authored fifty articles on water resources law and policy; has taught environmental and water law at law schools in Arizona and Montana; and has served as chair of the American Bar Association's Water Resources Committee. His book, River of Promise, River of Peril: The Politics of Managing the Missouri River, was published by the University Press of Kansas. Mr. Thorson teaches Water Law.

Mark Tuft, Adjunct Professor, received his J.D. degree (1969) from Hastings College of the Law where he was a member of the Thurston Law Society, Hastings Law Journal and Order of the Coif. He received his LL.M. degree from George Washington University (1972) graduating with highest honors. Mr. Tuft is engaged in trial practice in federal and state courts involving commercial and criminal litigation with the firm of Cooper, White & Cooper. He is a past Chair and Special Advisor to the State Bar of California Committee on Professional Responsibility and Conduct, and a former member of the Board of Directors of the Bar Association of San Francisco. Mr. Tuft is a co-author of the California Practice Guide on Professional Responsibility for Lawyers (The Rutter Group (West) 1997). Mr. Tuft has taught many courses for CLE providers, including the State Bar of California, the American Bar Association, CEB, The Rutter Group, and numerous local bar associations. He has also written articles on legal ethics for a variety of publications. After graduating from law school, Mr. Tuft served in the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's Corps from 1969-1973, during which time he was a defense counsel in a major "Mai Lai" courts martial case. Mr. Tuft teaches Legal Ethics, and Modern Jurisprudence.

James P. Tuthill, adjunct professor, received his J.D. (1972) from Northwestern University School of Law. He was a partner in the Chicago law firm of Schuyler, Ballard, & Cowen and in 1985 joined Pacific Telesis Group, one of the seven RBOCs formed at the divestiture of AT&T in 1984. At Pacific Telesis he was the lead attorney for international business, federal regulatory, and commercial matters. In 1995, he was the General Counsel & VP Regulatory Affairs of Pacific Bell Mobile Services. He is currently Senior Attorney at AT&T. Mr. Tuthill teaches Telecommunications and Broadcast Media Law.

Paul W. Vapnek, Adjunct Professor, is Of Counsel in the intellectual property law firm Townsend and Townsend and Crew. He received his B.M.E. degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and his J.D. from the University of San Francisco. Mr. Vapnek was a law clerk for the late William T. Sweigert in the United States District Court in San Francisco. His practice includes patent, trademark and copyright litigation, and counseling in the intellectual property field, as well as counseling and expert witness work in professional responsibility and legal malpractice matters. He taught Intellectual Property Law at Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco for twelve years and also taught Professional Responsibility there. He taught Patent Law at Boalt Hall in Berkeley, and an advanced Intellectual Property Seminar here at U.S.F. He has written and lectured widely on both intellectual property subjects and legal ethics. Mr. Vapnek teaches the Intellectual Property Law Seminar.

Monalisa Vu, Assistant Professor of Legal Writing, received her B.A. from Tufts University and her J.D. from the University of San Francisco School of Law (2001). She received a post-graduate fellowship from the Berkeley Law Foundation, and subsequently worked as a staff attorney at Asian Pacific Islander Legal Outreach. She is currently a partner at Ostly, Murphy & Vu, LLP, specializing in family law, domestic violence law, immigration, and civil litigation. Ms. Vu teaches Legal Drafting.

William Wang, Visiting Professor, is Professor of Law at the University of California, Hastings College of the Law. He is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Amherst College, and is an honorary Woodrow Wilson Fellow. He received his J.D. from Yale Law School. After graduating from Yale, he took the California Bar Examination on a detour, then moved to New York to work for a firm engaging in risk arbitrage. He left Wall Street to teach at the University of San Diego. He later served briefly as a full-time consultant to the White House Domestic Policy Staff, and then joined the Hastings faculty in 1981. Professor Wang is the co-author of a treatise, "Insider Trading". He has also written numerous articles in law journals, magazines, and newspapers on subjects ranging from "The Metaphysics of Punishment – An Exercise in Futility" to "Toilet Paper – It's Good As Gold or How to 'Clean Up' in Toilet Paper". Mr. Wang teaches Corporations.