Director of Student Advocacy and Outreach

Brophy College Preparatory, Arizona’s only Catholic, Jesuit high school in Phoenix, is currently accepting resumes from candidates for the position of Director of Student Advocacy and Outreach. This position is being created to enhance the ways that Brophy supports under-represented students and their families. Under-represented students include students of color, first generation college bound students, and students whose families have limited financial resources. The ideal candidate for this position is a fluent Spanish speaker, has previous experience in a related field, and is self-driven to passionately advocate for students. Candidates should believe in the potential of all students, and hold a deep commitment to helping provide opportunities and access that allow students to reach that potential. An articulation of anticipated responsibilities can be found here.

Brophy offers its student body of 1275 boys a rigorous and relevant college preparatory curriculum, a highly developed fine arts and music program, a diversity of extracurricular activities, and a strong retreat and service learning program. As a Jesuit school, Brophy takes great pride in striving to form well-rounded young men who are firmly grounded in a relationship with God that orients them to lead lives of service.

Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest and resume to Bob Ryan, Principal: bryan@brophyprep.org. Compensation and benefits are commensurate with experience and are extremely competitive. More information about the school is available at www.brophyprep.org.
